WA Chess Championship Starts

Welcome to the April 2026 CAWA Newsletter.

In this edition you will find reports on the 2026 School Chess 1st Zonal, 2026 WA Allegro Championship, 2026 WA Rapid Chess Championship, 2026 WA Junior Rapid Championships and the 2026 Gufeld Cup.

You will also find a summary of results of the CAWA community survey that was held in 2025 and a nice interview with Celine Ong - one of Western Australia's standout Female chess players. Celine won the WA Girls Championship multiple times (2017 to 2022) and claimed the WA Women's Championship title in 2022, when she was only 16 years old!

Over the past year, Murdoch University has generously supported the WA chess community by providing their award-winning venue to host several of our junior events - including the School Chess League Finals and the Girls Chess Finals.

Murdoch University is having an Open Day, which is coming up on Saturday the 23rd of May, and it's a great opportunity for students and families to explore the campus, learn about scholarships, and discover the many study pathways available.

Full tournament information, updates, entry forms and results are available from the CAWA website:

<https://www.cawa.org.au>

Submissions for the June 2026 edition of the newsletter should be sent by the 31st of May 2026 to:

2026 WA Allegro Chess Championship

The 2026 WA Allegro Championship was held at Leeming Primary School on Sunday 22nd February. We were pleased to welcome a big field of 46 players, making this one of the most successful WA Allegro Championships in recent years.

Congratulations to all of the prize winners. The prize allocation was not straightforward, and took us some time to work out, due to some very large scoregroups at the top with multiple players in each group being eligible for different category prizes. David Barry's prize allocation app helped us verify that our calculations given below were correct.

Thanks to Dennis for working with me as an arbiter, Tim for transporting the equipment, Ian for bringing board numbers at short notice, Hui for the excellent photos, and the many players who helped set up at the beginning and pack away at the end.

History of the Gufeld Cup

Russian Grand Master J. Eduard Gufeld visited Perth in 1986. He stayed with Willetton Sports Club Chess Secretary, Vince Soto-Olivo, father of Gina Soto-Olivo who went on to become W.A. Junior Champion and then Australian Girls Champion.

After a simultaneous exhibition at the Willetton Sports Club, Eduard's offer to provide a perpetual trophy to the club was gratefully accepted. This was to be the Gufeld Cup, played over three days of Easter in a seven round open tournament.

After disbandment of the Willetton Club the trophy was competed for as a W.A. Grand Prix event over the Easter weekend at the Perth Chess Centre.

CAWA Community Survey 2025 – Summary Report

In 2025, the Chess Association of Western Australia (CAWA) conducted its inaugural Community Survey to gather structured feedback from members and inform future planning. A total of 30 responses were received from junior players, parents, and adult members.

Key findings indicate generally strong satisfaction (average rating 3.8/5), high perceived membership value (83%), and that participation in tournaments is influenced primarily by scheduling considerations rather than dissatisfaction. The survey establishes a baseline dataset to guide strategic planning and future comparison.

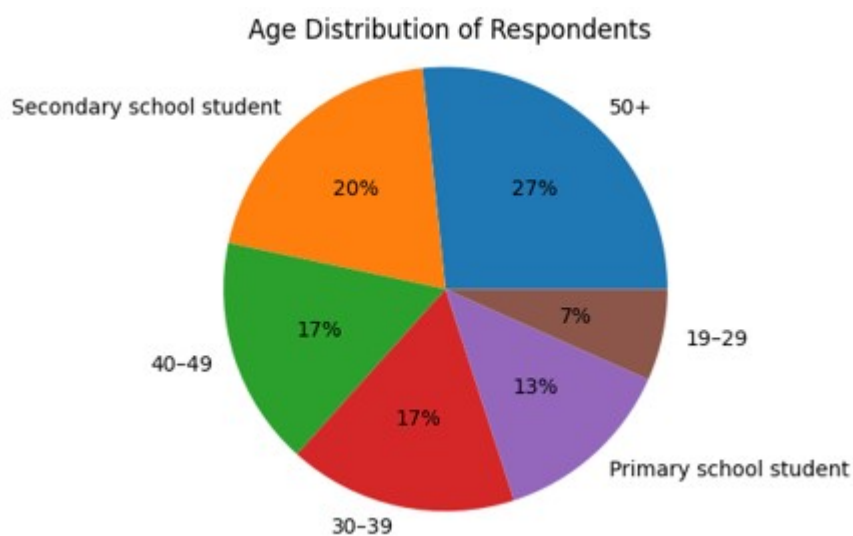

Executive Summary

In 2025, the Chess Association of Western Australia (CAWA) conducted its inaugural Community Survey to gather structured feedback from members and inform future planning. A total of 30 responses were received from junior players, parents, and adult members.

Key findings indicate generally strong satisfaction (average rating 3.8/5), high perceived membership value (83%), and that participation in tournaments is influenced primarily by scheduling considerations rather than dissatisfaction. The survey establishes a baseline dataset to guide strategic planning and future comparison.

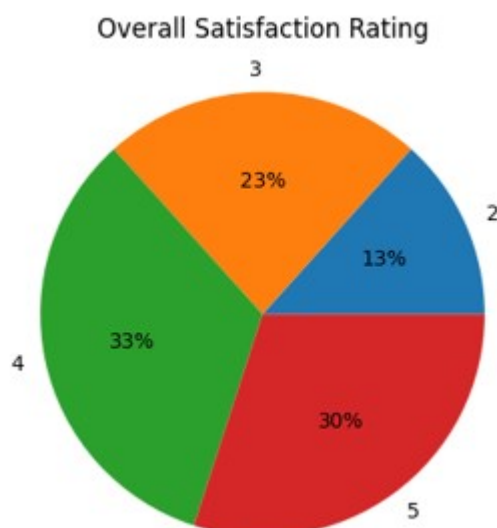

1. Respondent Profile

The age distribution of respondents is shown below.

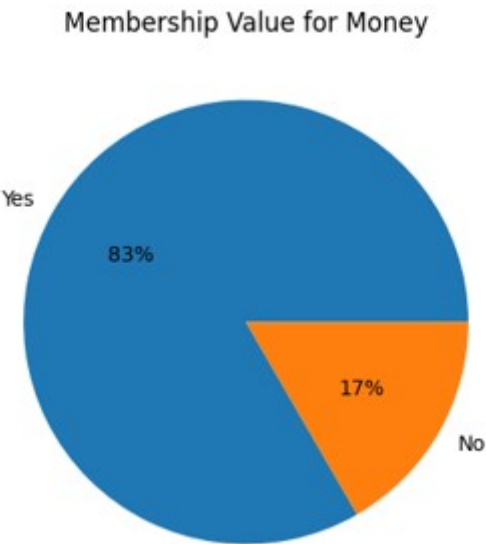

2. Overall Satisfaction

Respondents rated CAWA events and membership on a five-point scale (average 3.8/5).

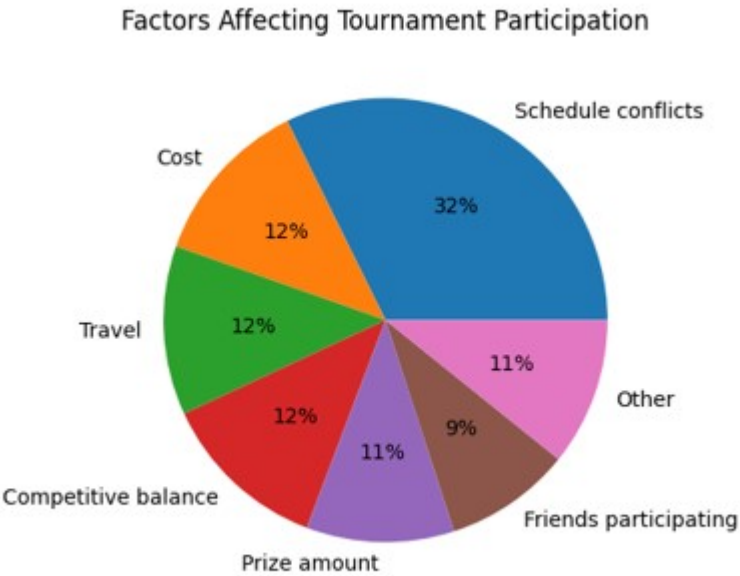

3. Membership Value

83% of respondents indicated that CAWA membership represents good value for money.

4. Factors Affecting Participation

The most significant factor affecting tournament participation was scheduling conflicts. Other contributing factors included cost, travel, competitive balance, prize structure, and social considerations.

Conclusion and Next Steps

The survey results suggest healthy overall member sentiment and strong perceived value. Opportunities for improvement centre primarily on calendar planning, event structuring, and communication clarity.

CAWA intends to repeat this survey periodically to monitor trends, support evidence-based governance, and ensure that tournament planning reflects the needs of the WA chess community.

Interview with Celine Ong

In celebration of International Women's Day, we're highlighting Celine Ong - one of Western Australia's standout Female chess players. Celine won the WA Girls Championship multiple times between 2017-2022 and claimed the WA Women's Championship title in 2022 when she was only 16 years old!

After speaking with Kathryn Hardegen and Kobe Wu last year, we caught up with Celine for a short interview about her chess journey and experiences. We hope her story inspires and encourages more girls and women to get involved in the world of chess.

Let's see what Celine had to say!

What do you enjoy most about playing chess?

I've always found the most satisfaction in the strategic side of the game—specifically the process of developing a complex plan and seeing it successfully play out on the board.

Who is/are your favourite chess player(s)?

I've always been a fan of Mikhail Tal. I really admired his creative approach and his incredibly aggressive style of play.

Who introduced you to chess, or what inspired you to start playing?

My father actually introduced me to the game when I was young. It was a great way for us to bond, and that's really where my interest started.

At what age did you start taking chess seriously and competing regularly in tournaments?

I started taking it more seriously around the age of 11, which was when my school chess club began participating in interschool tournaments.

Can you share your most memorable game or tournament experience?

The most memorable moment for me was the tournament that essentially started my competitive chess journey. It was an interschool event with nearly 200 participants, and I managed to take first place. There were very few female players participating, and as the only female to make it to the finals, I felt very special in that moment.

How do you prepare for an important tournament?

My preparation usually involved working through tactics puzzles, reviewing my opening lines, and making sure I was well-rested so I could stay focused.

When you lose a game, what helps you stay calm and regain confidence for the next round?

I've learned to accept that mistakes are inevitable. If you have the right mindset, a loss can actually be more instructive than a win because it forces you to analyze where you can improve.

As a female player, what has been the biggest challenge in your chess career?

Being in the minority was a challenge and could be lonely sometimes, especially since I didn't have any friends who shared the passion. Being the only girl in the tournament room sometimes felt isolating but it was also an advantage. People sometimes underestimated me and I learned to use those preconceptions to my benefit on the board. I found the biggest hurdles in chess were usually more about maintaining personal discipline.

Do you think separate prizes for female players are necessary or helpful?

I think they serve as a valuable incentive to encourage more girls to get involved in the game. In my experience, they help foster a more inclusive environment without reinforcing gender barriers, especially since female players are increasingly competitive in open categories as well. Without them, I would not have pursued chess as much as I did.

What changes would you like to see in the chess community to make it more inclusive?

I'd like to see more outreach specifically targeted at young girls. Providing more encouragement early on can help break down the idea that chess is a hobby meant primarily for boys.

Besides chess, do you have any other hobbies?

Yes, I enjoy playing a few different musical instruments, staying active at the gym, and spending time on various art projects.

How has your passion for chess influenced your life and your current studies?

Chess has had a lasting impact on how I approach challenges. It taught me resilience and strategic thinking, which have been incredibly useful in my Law studies. Law requires a high level of problem-solving and analytical discipline, very similar to what you need at the chessboard.

What advice would you give to young female chess players?

My best advice would be to persevere. Don't feel discouraged or out of place if your immediate circle of friends doesn't share your interest, just keep playing and practicing to get better. It's a great feeling to prove people wrong on the board, especially when they don't expect it to come from a girl.
